Church of the Redeemer in Pittsburgh is seeking a new rector experienced in parish leadership. Redeemer is a vital church community committed to service within the congregation and the larger community, looking for a new leader to guide us in our eucharistic celebration and travel with us in our faith journey with Christ, individually and communally.

The congregation has a continued emphasis on social justice, with local ecumenical and interfaith collaborations. Eager to learn, we thrive on inspired preaching relating scripture to life, and while centering our worship on the traditional liturgy, we are open to exploring new directions.

Our church and rectory sit in the neighborhood of Squirrel Hill, an ethnically, culturally and racially diverse neighborhood located between two large parks and proximal to much of the overall city life.

For more information about our church go to our website: www.redeempittsburgh.org

To apply for the position as rector, please send your resume', OTM portfolio, a link to a sermon you preached, and a cover letter to us at RedeemerSearch5700@gmail.com.

We will be receiving applications until July 15.
